Gotta Scoot!

By John Hill

It's coming!

Winter is coming ... and ski season, too!

As I write this, the temperature is heading up toward 90 and it's kind of hard to believe. Still, a couple of mornings this past week the temperature went down into the 50s. I actually wore long sleeves when I left the house in the morning — though I was back in a polo shirt by mid-morning.

So ... winter and ski season are coming.

This comes as no surprise to the Tulsa Ski Club, and we've been preparing for it (heck, we've been preparing ever since late spring). By now we have a winter trip schedule, a schedule of social events, a race program, and more.

The TSC sign-up picnic will be held tomorrow. I hope a lot of you will turn out and sign up for our assortment of trips. The schedule offers something to appeal to any member and to not-yet-members as well. Actually, if you look closely, you will probably find that you like the looks of several trips. Well, sign up for several — indulge yourself!

LATER...

Well, it's now the 19th and we had the Sign-Up Picnic a couple of days ago. The event was pretty successful, despite the rainstorm. It was a great chance for skiers to talk with the Trip Captains, do some comparison shopping, run into old friends, plan winter trips, etc.

We sold many spaces on our winter trip schedule, but there is still plenty of space left. Don't dawdle, though. I've already gotten calls from people who wanted information about my trip and others. Look the schedule over, identify the trips you want, and reserve your spot!

Winter Trips will include:

- 12/13 - 12/18 – Aspen
- 12/26 - 12/31 – Keystone, staying at Silverthorne
- 1/11 - 1/16 – Telluride
- 1/19 - 1/24 – Steamboat
- 1/30 - 2/4 – FSA at Heavenly (Tahoe)
- 2/15 - 2/20 – Breckenridge
- 2/23 - 2/28 – Copper
- 3/1 - 3/5 – Taos
- 3/16 - 3/20 – Angel Fire
- 3/21 - 3/26 – Crested Butte
- 4/14 - 4/24 – Sweden/Finland. Here's the Europe trip we've been hinting about. It will be a new destination for the Tulsa Ski Club and should be a lot of fun!

We have a great season ahead. Be part of it!

Gotta scoot!

By the way, for those of you who were wondering, I survived last month's birthday!

Editor's Notes

It is 17 degrees this morning as I write at my Dillon, Colorado office. Last Friday, Sept. 22, Breckenridge, Vail, and Beaver Creek had 2 feet of snow. I went over Vail pass on Saturday and verified the snow amounts. I met some friends from Tulsa in Aspen Saturday night. They did not have as much, but it was still amazing. At this time of year you come out to witness the Aspen's golden color. They have a bus trip up to Maroon Bells which I took on Sunday. In the photo below, we had shorts on because we did get 18 holes of Golf in Down valley in Carbondale later in the day. There was at least a foot of Snow at Maroon Bells. It was the first weekend of Fall, and it is definitely Fall in the Mountains. The first trip of the year is to the Gant in Aspen. The location is great, right next to the ski hill in Aspen. Sign up for this trip for the fun of Aspen. The skiing is a bonus. A big, big bonus. Silverton Ski Area opened to skiers with 36 inches of Snow on Saturday, Sept. 23. Telluride is in that neck of the woods. Looks like our Telluride trip in early January may be really, really good. I will talk to ski club member Sonny Parish, who works in Pagosa, for an update next month on how that area of Colorado is doing with snow.

September Sign-up Picnic Continues to Be a Big Event

On Sunday, September 17, 2006, The Tulsa Ski Club hosted its annual sign-up picnic for winter ski trips. "Despite the heavy rains all day, the Elks Lodge at 53rd and Harvard was filled with nearly 200 people," declared Membership Chairman, Matt Moss. "In addition, we signed up nearly 15 new members and some renewals," said Matt.

Twelve trip captains and assistants were available for each of the winter ski trips planned this year by Jim Constantine, Winter Trips Chairman. Each had information and details for those who inquired of their trips. "So far, 143 participants have signed up and paid deposits for trips this year," said Ruth Obermark, TSC Treasurer. "The biggest trip sell out this year is Gene Elsberry's fly up trip to Heavenly in South Lake Tahoe," said Constantine. "And the early trips desperately need more applicants before cancellation dates arrive," said Jim, because big lodging deposits are due September and October for the December trips.

Free hot dogs with chili, beer, and soft drinks were served to members by Social Chairman, Regina Mullings, in cooperation with The Elks Lodge, who grilled the Black Angus frankfurters. The entire room was filled between 11:30am and 3:00pm with ski members and guests renewing acquaintances, enjoying the hot dogs and camaraderie while filling out their trip applications.

Busy as always in the background accounting and trip processing department were Anita Greiner, Trip Assistant, and Ruth Obermark, Treasurer. Ken Gowriluk volunteered many hours again this year setting up the processing area, computers, and the credit card processing units for Ruth and Anita. Thanks also to Ken for being responsible for the physical layout of trip booths and eating tables.
